Coronavirus - Continuity in Action

The COVID-19 pandemic is forcing social distancing and isolation, which means it's not recommended for groups of people to congregate for events like conferences, networking, training, and workshops.

But we humans are a social species, who need connection and interaction to survive and thrive. We also have an economic obligation to keep our businesses and industries going. So we have to think of creative ways to deliver the experiences we need to help professionals grow, whether that's in the workplace or beyond.

That's how Passion Pioneers came up with the REIMAGINE REMOTE – QUICK GUIDE SERIES. Each complimentary Quick Guide will cover a different scenario that is usually completed face-to-face or in-person, and offer practical, powerful alternatives for you to help keep your business going if attendees are at home.

The value of in-person events is that they are immersive – they tap into multiple senses (including sight, sound, touch), they create an atmosphere, they encourage professionals to step out of their day-to-day, and they provide an experiential activity for learning, development, and connection.

These are what will replicate as we create continuing connected experiences.

Reimagine Remote - Training

HOST ONLINE

Find an online video platform, like Zoom, that can be used to livestream speakers from their own computers. You can even add interactivity with polls and chat.

DELIVER PACKS

Invest money you might have spent on a venue by posting packs to attendees. Include notepad, stationery, post-its, headphones, and maybe a gift. No time? Send a digital workbook to print.

SHARE VIDEOS

If your platform allows you to share your computer audio with attendees, use videos to create multi-sensory, emotional connections to concepts and ideas.

BREAK OUTS

Some platforms provide the ability to create separate chat rooms or break out rooms in the technology. Use this to encourage small group sharing of ideas, with or without a facilitator.

THINK FOOD

Partner with food companies to deliver meals or offer discounts. Or at least add non-perishable snacks in your posted packs to switch on the senses.
